User Centric is a small company. Other than owners, we have two (2) employees. With a few minor exceptions, we serve a few wholesale customers on a resale basis only. We do not provide any service to individual or retail accounts. We do not share, sell or otherwise disclose any customer data to anyone.

Due to our size and nature of our business, we do not maintain written procedures. However, the owners are in possession of all material customer data. We are also personal friends with all our major customers. As such our procedures are to keep all customer information on a secure, password protected service and keep it confidential.
